PRAYER OF MY HEART

Lord, please remodel and refurbish my heart.

Raise the ceiling of Faith's room so it can stretch and grow.

Add tall windows in Peace's room so it can stream out to shine on others.

Construct balconies in Joy's room so it can dance their length, clearly visible to all.

Build a basement in Love's room so it will become deeper, stronger and unconditional.

Knock out walls and tear out floors in Gratitude's room so it will pour out like a river.

Light a lamp and add a sofa in Grace's room so all who come will want to stay.

May every room in my heart be decorated with a new song for you, Lord.

Amen.

(RACHEL WALLACE-OBERLE).

Bible Corner

"TAKE IT TO HEART"

Between friends and loved ones, parting is always painful. The time before parting is a time not for flippancy or clichés but is a time for sharing what is in one's heart. It was so for Jesus when the time came for him to leave his disciples. So he spoke to them of his Father's love and his own love for them, of his choice of them to continue his presence on earth, of his command to love one another as he had loved them, even to the laying down of his life for them as the high point of friendship.

What he said to them on that occasion, he says to each of us in Sunday's gospel as we gather to make present again the gift of his love in the Eucharist. Taken from chapter fifteen of John's gospel, Sunday's passage is one to be relished rather than rushed, to be savoured rather than studied, to be prayed rather than analysed, to be treasured in the core of one's being. It is a gospel for the heart rather than of the head. Take it to your heart over the weekend.
